Vitamin C

primates and guinea pigs only species that can not produce vitamin C from gluconic acid

"C" is a general water soluble antioxidant and may inhibit the formation of nitrosamines during digestion.